The View from the Cockpit

- 01 Core Applications Powering Results
- 02 Data Driven Racing
- 03 Cloud-Based Racing Model
- 04 Secure Race Analytics

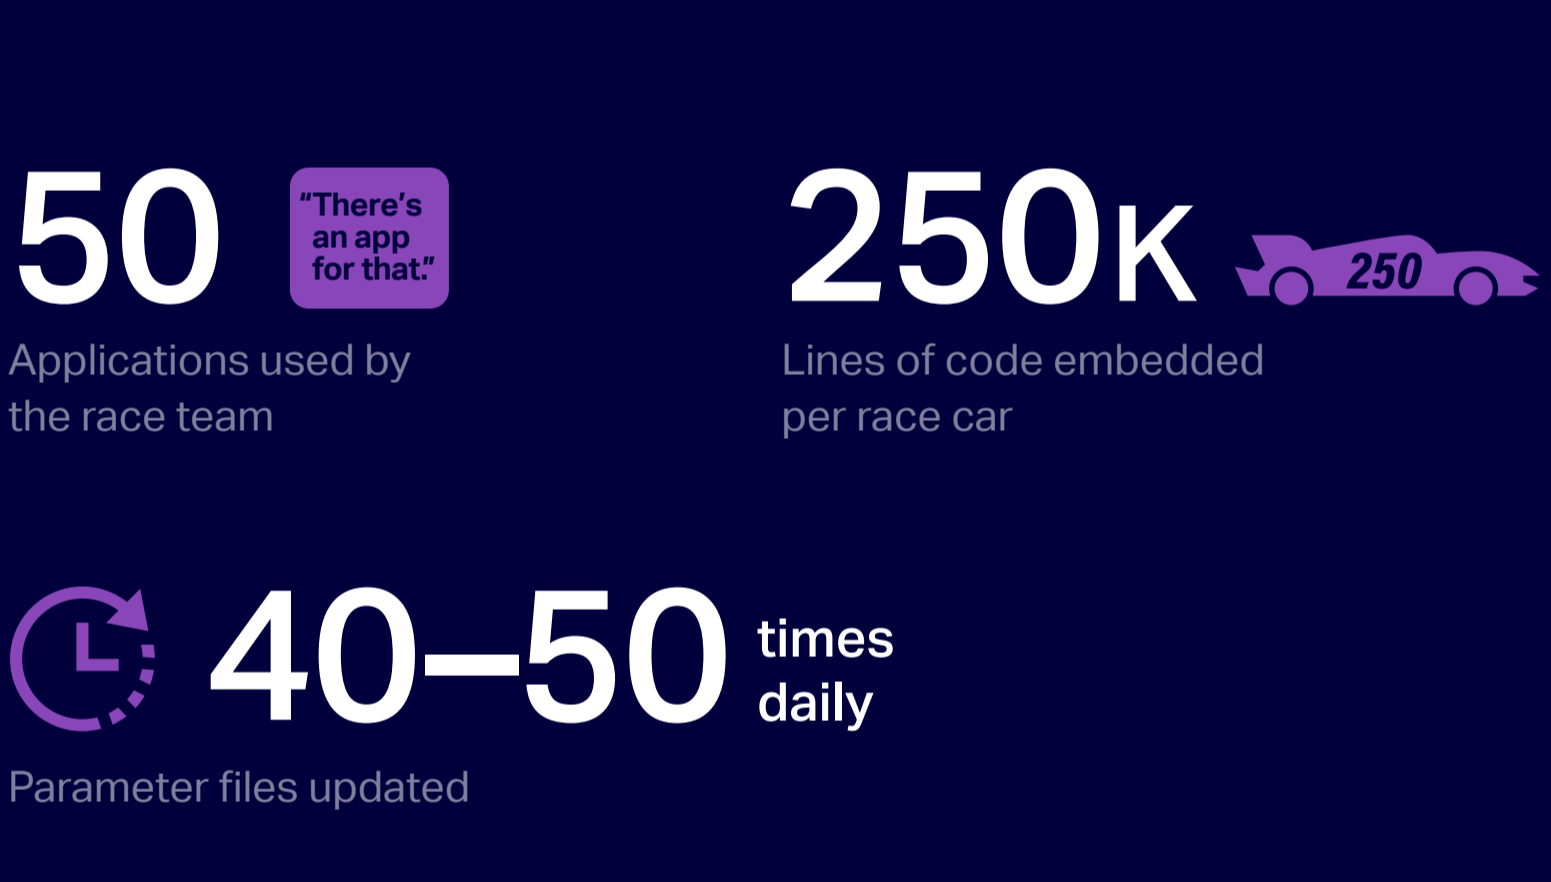

In Formula E™, the cockpit gives you a vital view into what's going on during the heat of the race. Speed, temperature, battery life—many of the important details that the driver needs to stay resilient and make important decisions.

But a race is more than the view of your own cockpit. It's the balance of knowing what's happening now, what the other teams—and even the fans—are doing. Then when the race is over, you need to analyze how what happened in this race will help you do better in the next one.

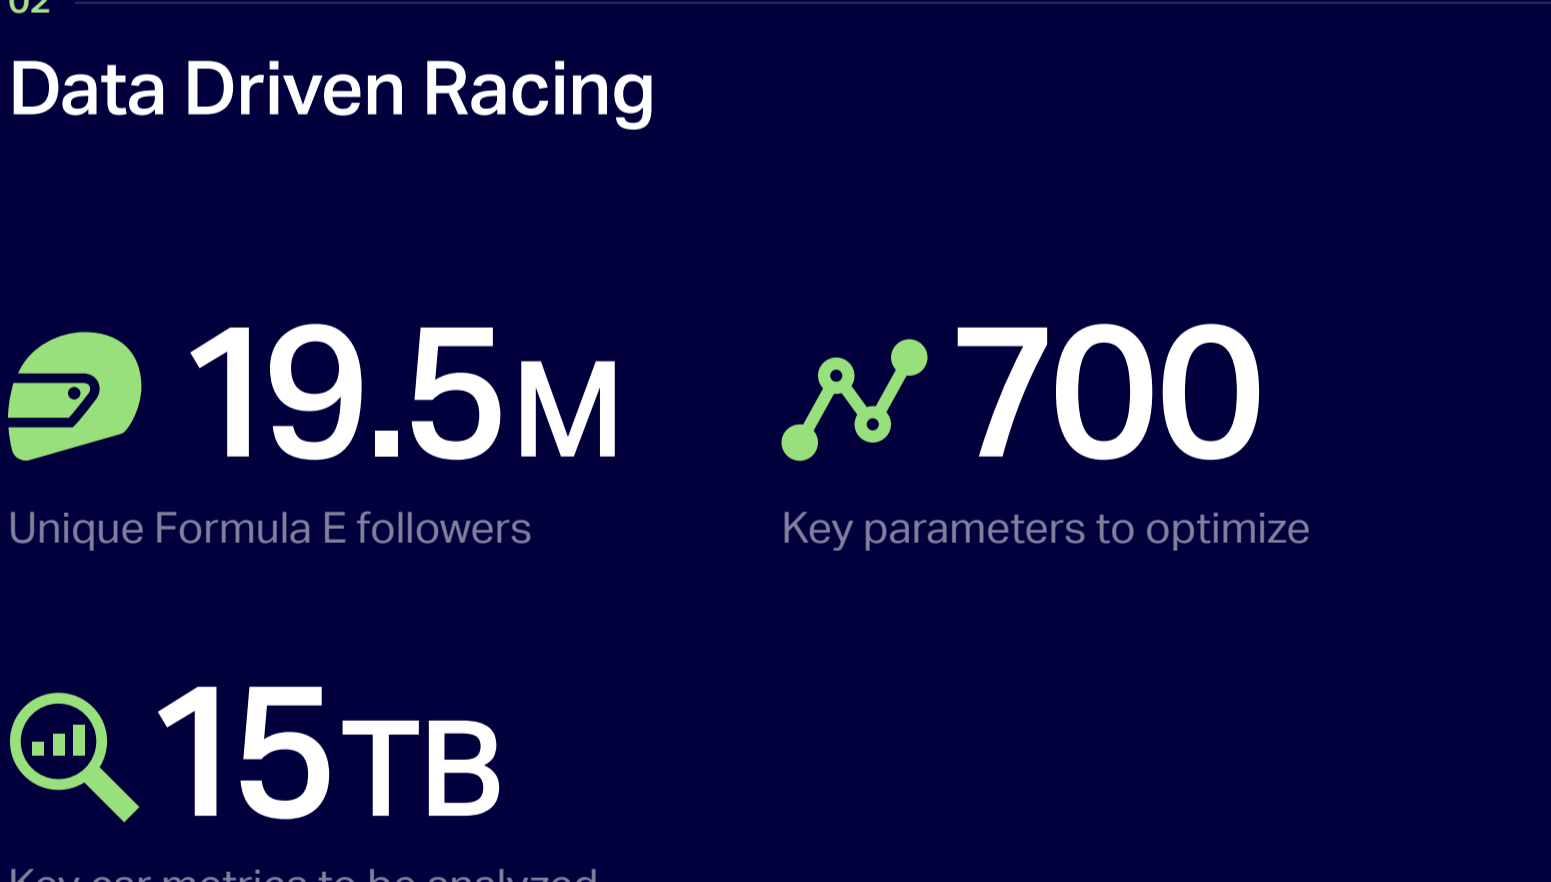

While we may call them different things, Micro Focus and Jaguar Racing look at the same key race indicators. We help drive successful outcomes in today's race, and build opportunities for better outcomes tomorrow.

In other words, we're on different tracks, but in the same race.
